

Charter of the RBTF - NGO of Environmental Protection - Medical Rescue and Global Defence MTÜ

1. Every living being on our planet should have the right to live and live with dignity.

This also means that every living being should have the right to food and a roof over its head. In addition, as a fundamental right, every person should have a job, fair remuneration and access to technology and education.

2. Every living being should receive the help he needs when he needs it, without questioning it.

This also means that every living being should have access to medical care and that existing psychological and emergency care should be permanently guaranteed.

3. Everyone should have the right to equal treatment, regardless of salary and education
4. Every living being should be able to live in a peaceful environment without war, death and hunger
5. Every person should be treated equally fairly, regardless of whether they are rich, poor or disadvantaged
6. Our environment belongs to every living being in this world, and therefore it should be treated well, not destroyed
7. Every living being should have the right to live freely. No habitat should be allowed to be taken destroyed
8. Racism, hatred, violence, oppression and exclusion should not exist and dominate our world

It also means that same-sex couples should be able to live in peace and that it should not be punished on the basis of religious or other views.